While the children at The Bilney Lane Home are certainly not thinking about going back to school, the team at Providence Advisors is being proactive and have made a donation towards preparing them for the new academic school year. Kenwood Kerr, CEO and President of the 100% Bahamian owned financial services company, explained that as Providence Advisors celebrates their 3-year anniversary this summer, the group decided to continue its commitment to contribute to the positive development of Bahamian youth. Janet Brown, Administrator for the home, was on hand to accept the donation and expressed gratitude, stating that the funds will go a long way in the purchase of uniforms and school supplies for the eight children in her care. With over $400 million in assets under management, Providence Advisors Limited is the largest pension administrator in The Bahamas offering a full range of financial services including pension administration, investment management and corporate advisory services. The company was recently a finalist for the 2009 Bahamas Chamber of Commerce Business Awards.
